Summary of CV

This section describes briefly a summary of your career in science, academic and research; the main scientific and technological achievements and goals in your line of research in the medium -and long- term. It also includes other important aspects or peculiarities.

I am Pablo Vallejo-Medina, PhD in Psychology from the University of Granada.

My scientific career has been developed from the beginning in the field of sexuality. More specifically, I have worked in sexual functioning, sexual health promotion and sexual violence. I have directed projects of evaluation of the effectiveness of psychological intervention protocols and, consequently, I have published this type of articles. I have also directed a project on sexual violence in women. In addition, transversally to the three sub-areas described above, I have worked on gender issues, such as sexism, homophobia or transphobia among others.

I have co-authored fifty-five articles published in Scopus/WOS. Of these, nine have been published in the second quartile while fourteen positioned in q1 journals (WOS). My h-index according to Scopus is nineteen. In Google Scholar it is twenty-four and in WOS 16. I have 714 citations in the latter database, 1959 in Google Scholar and 859 in Scopus. I have co-authored one book on clinical sexology and have authored some book chapters: six to be more specific. So far, I have participated in eleven competitive and funded research projects, seven of which I have acted as principal investigator. I have taught 2,500 hours of teaching at the doctoral, master's and undergraduate levels, both at universities where I was hired and as a guest lecturer. These hours of professor's work would be equivalent to 250 ECTS. In addition, I have been editor of the journal - indexed in the JCR- "Revista Latinoamericana de Psicología" from 2014 to 2023, and I have created and directed the SexLab KL, the first human sexuality laboratory in Latin America, from 2014 to 2022. I have completed two research stays of 3 months each and two training courses and I have completed two university teaching training courses. I have also won three scientific development awards and have a certified English level of C2.

All these research advances in my career have impacted society in diverse ways. On the one hand, they have permeated into teaching, having updated academic manuals in different areas. On the other hand, professionals who have attended congresses have been able to update their knowledge thanks to the more than one hundred conferences I have given. In addition, the general population has benefited from laws derived from my research, as well as from interventions in the press (radio, television, newspapers...), or updates on Wikipedia. I have also been part of the Durex expert committee on condom size and fit. I have adapted sexual health promotion programs. And I have adapted different scales that have improved the sexology evaluation in Spanish.

General quality indicators of scientific research

This section describes briefly the main quality indicators of scientific production (periods of research activity, experience in supervising doctoral theses, total citations, articles in journals of the first quartile, H index...). It also includes other important aspects or peculiarities.
